Bangladesh

(July 6-12, 2015)

- Bangladesh meets inflation target, misses the export target in the fiscal year 2014-15.

The government of Bangladesh has comfortably met its inflation target in the 2014-15 fiscal year. At the end of fiscal year 2014-15, the average inflation reached 6.41 percent – the lowest in 11 years – against the target of 6.5 percent. Planning Minister AHM Mustafa Kamal, while releasing the latest inflation data on July 7, said lower oil prices and a stable local currency helped meet the inflation target.<sup>1</sup>

Exports rose 3.35 percent year-on-year to $31.2 billion in fiscal year 2014-15. But the amount was well below the year's target of $33.2 billion, which the industry insiders blamed on the quarter-long political turmoil.<sup>2</sup>

Sri Lanka

(July 6-12, 2015)

- Concerns expressed about Sri Lankan authorities' decision to re-establish the Press Council; UNP and its partners in the UNF sign MoU for Good Governance; Language lab set up by India lauded; EU assistance to Sri Lanka; R.C. Wijegunaratne appointed as the new Navy Commander; Former President Mahinda Rajapaksa files the nomination papers to contest the Parliament election.

The Committee to Protect Journalists, a US based media rights group, is concerned about Sri Lankan authorities' decision to re-establish the Sri Lankan Press Council, a media regulatory body which gives the government powers to jail journalists in connection with their reporting. The Press Council was established under the 1973 Press Council law and is made up of members appointed by the president as well as two journalists chosen by media organizations. The Press Council was dissolved in January 2015 after Sirisena was elected president. During his presidential bid, Sirisena vowed to uphold press freedom. President Maithripala Sirisena announced the decision to re-establish the Press Council on July 2, and appointed new members to the council that day, according to news reports. The reason for the decision is unclear. The president did not

A Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) was signed at Temple Trees on July 12 between the United National Party (UNP) and its partners in the United National Front (UNF) for Good Governance. Jathika Hela Urumaya General Secretary Patali Champika Ranawaka and JHU Chairman the venerable Athureliya Rathana thero signed the MOU on behalf of the JHU. Members of the Sri Lanka Freedom Part breakaway faction led by Rajitha Senaratne, the Sri Lanka Muslim Congress and civil society members also signed the MOU with the UNP. The United National Party had formally proposed and later agreed to register the United National Front after the August 17 Parliament election. The UNP, at a special convention on July 11, agreed on the proposal to also contest the Parliament election in August as the United National Front for Good Governance under the elephant symbol by including members from other political parties who have extended support to the UNP. The United National Front will look to campaign for good governance at the August 17 Parliament election with Ranil Wickremesinghe as the Prime Ministerial candidate.<sup>4</sup>

- China dismisses the protests over Uygur repatriation from Thailand; A book 'Xi Jinping: the Governance of China' published in minority languages; China urges Japan to undertake correct and respectful attitude towards history; China upset over Japanese protests with respect to East China Sea.

On July 10, while responding to the debate surrounding the repatriation of around 100 Uyghurs to China from Thailand, the Chinese Foreign Ministry Spokesperson Hua Chunying said that, "these repatriated Chinese minority citizens are illegal immigrants who have travelled to and stayed in Thailand through various channels". She further added that China "strongly protests some forces' attempts to interfere in China's internal affairs via ethnic and religious issues and to disrupt China's security and stability".<sup>14</sup>

The Chinese government announced that it has published a book titled 'Xi Jinping: the Governance of China' in five ethnic languages (Mongolian, Tibetan, Kazak, Korean and Uyghur). According to the Chinese authorities, "the ethnic minority languages of the book will help ethnic minorities enhance their identity of the motherland, the Chinese nation, Chinese culture and the socialist path with Chinese characteristics".<sup>15</sup>

On July 8 the Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson, Hua Chunying, urged Japan to take a responsible attitude towards history. This was in response to the Japanese reaction with respect to the Chinese decision to commemorate its eight-year resistance against the Japanese invasion. Hua said that, "China and the international community are commemorating the victory of WWII to

On July 7, Beijing rebuffed the Japanese protests as a response to its gas development in the East China Sea. The Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Hua Chunying said that, “China is conducting activities in the areas under undisputed Chinese administration. ## Japan

(July 6-12, 2015)

- Japan and the US held TPP working-level talks; Japan renews protest against Chinese construction of gas platform in East China Sea; Yachi-Patrushev discuss the prospects of Russian President Vladimir Putin’s visit to Japan; Japan and China restart discussions on prisoner transfer treaty; Japan-Cyprus foreign ministers’ meeting in Tokyo.

On July 10, Japan and the US concluded two-day TPP working-level talks. Both the countries discussed difficult issues including the rice import quota and automobile parts tariffs. Reports suggested that both Japan and the US are likely to resolve the concerns at the TPP minister meeting between Akira Amari and Michael Froman in Hawaii on the side-lines of a plenary ministerial gathering of the TPP-negotiating countries from July 28. During the working level meeting, the deliberations focused on Japan’s approach concerning tariff-free import quota for American rice along with the scheduling of US tariff removal for Japanese auto parts. While the US pursues a quota of 175,000 tons, Japan reportedly wishes to limit it to 50,000 tons.<sup>18</sup>

On July 6, Japanese Chief Cabinet Secretary Yoshihide Suga registered strong protest against Chinese ‘unilateral gas development’<sup>19</sup> in the East China Sea which Japan fears may be used for military purposes. Since 2013 Japan objected to the Chinese construction near the maiden line between Chinese and Japanese shoreline. Both parties failed to agree on the boundary in East China Sea which has a 200-mile exclusive economic zones overlap.

Japanese National Security Advisor Shotaro Yachi and Secretary of Russian Security Council Nikolai Patrushev met in Moscow to discuss a wide range of issues including President Vladimir Putin’s visit to Japan, territorial dispute over Northern Territories/Kuril Islands, terrorism, global

Tokyo hosted two-day discussion on a proposed China-Japan treaty concerning the transfer of prisoners aimed at enabling rehabilitation of convicts sentenced abroad by letting them to serve their verdicts in their respective native states<sup>21</sup>. The former first lady of South Korea, Lee Hee-ho (wife of late President Kim Dae-jung) is scheduled to visit North Korea from August 5-8. The visit is aimed at easing tensions in the worsening inter-Korea relations. Officials from Kim Dae-jung Peace Centre earlier visited Kaesong to finalize the details of Lee Hee-ho's visit. She is reportedly expected to go to children's hospital in Pyongyang and a nursery facility at Mt. Myohyang in North Pyongan Province. It is unclear if the former first lady will meet the North Korean leader Kim Jong-un.<sup>25</sup>

Korean foreign ministry reportedly indicated that Park-Obama summit, rescheduled in the latter half of 2015, will present some vital agreement on North Korea to facilitate improvement in the nuclear negotiation. ### Iran

(July 6-12, 2015)

- Iran says Western countries are not safe from Israel's threats; Kerry said some outstanding issues 'resolved' in Iran nuclear talks.

Iranian Defence Minister Brigadier General Hossein Dehqan said that the Zionist regime of Israel is not just a threat to the Islamic countries, but the U.S. and the Western countries are not safe from its threats. The Zionist regime of Israel has hundreds of atomic warheads and other weapons of mass destruction and is the "centre of war mongering" in the world, he stated. He also said that the Zionist regime of Israel fully supports the Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant and seeks to "occupy the land from the Nile to the Euphrates".<sup>27</sup>

US Secretary of State John Kerry said progress has been made in intense negotiations between Iran and the P5+1 group of countries on Tehran's nuclear energy programme. "I think we have resolved some of the things that were outstanding and we've made some progress," Kerry told a group of reporters in Vienna. The top US diplomat praised the "constructive" atmosphere. ## Iraq and Syria

(July 6-12, 2015)

- ISIS retakes strategic Syrian city; Malala opens school for Syrian refugee girls; Iraq gets first funding to rebuild war-struck regions; Iraqi warplane accidentally bombs Baghdad.

ISIS militants have retaken the key Syrian city of Ain Issa from Kurdish forces, the London-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said. Backed by U.S.-led coalition airstrikes, Kurdish forces wrested control of Ain Issa and Tal Abyad last month. Both cities are strategically important, because they sit along a supply route on a main road between Raqqa, the city ISIS considers to be its capital, and the Turkish border. The development comes after a weekend of coalition airstrikes on ISIS targets in Raqqa, described by Brett McGurk, the U.S. envoy for the coalition against ISIS, as "the most sustained set of airstrikes to date" against ISIS in Syria.<sup>29</sup>

Education campaigner Malala Yousafzai has turned 18, and marked the day by opening a school for Syrian girls in an informal refugee settlement in Lebanon's Beka'a Valley. Malala was attacked by the Taliban in her native Pakistan in 2012 because of her campaign for girls' education. In her speech at the school, funded by the Malala Fund, she criticised world leaders for "failing" Syrian refugees, especially Syrian children.<sup>30</sup>

Iraq and the World Bank signed a $350 million loan agreement to fund emergency reconstruction in towns recaptured from Islamic State militants, a deal Baghdad said marked the first international help to rebuild areas devastated by war. Finance Minister Hoshiyar Zebari said around a third of the money would go toward repairing roads and bridges, with a similar amount allocated to restoring electricity networks, water and sewage.<sup>31</sup>

An Iraqi warplane has accidentally dropped a bomb over a residential area of Baghdad after it experienced mechanical failure, according to the country's defence ministry. Officials confirmed that a bomb fell from a Russian-made Sukhoi Su-25 fighter jet, hitting at the New Baghdad neighbourhood of the city and leaving 12 people killed or wounded.<sup>32</sup>

- US conducts Cyber Guard exercise to train to handle cyber operations; OPM takes measures to protect federal workers from cyber-attacks, Defence Secretary Carter asks counties and communities to find new ways to work with service to troops and veterans; Army announces force structure decisions and stationing plans.

It's an axiom in the military that "you train like you fight." Another is "the battlefield is a bad place to meet an enemy for the first time." U.S. Cyber Command is expanding these truisms to the cyber domain, and the Cyber Guard exercise — held June 8-26 in Suffolk, Virginia — brought together players from the Defence Department, the Department of Homeland Security, the FBI, the Federal Aviation Administration, private firms and law enforcement to train to handle cyber operations and ensure all the players know each other and the capabilities each brings to the fight. The exercise also included participation from U.S. allies, including the United Kingdom.<sup>33</sup> In late May 2015, as a result of ongoing efforts to secure its systems, the US Office of Personnel Management (OPM) discovered an incident affecting background investigation records of current, former and prospective federal employees and contractors, officials said. On July 9, U.S. OPM officials announced the results of the interagency forensics investigation into a recent cyber incident involving federal background investigation data and the steps it is taking to protect those affected. Since learning of the incident affecting background investigation records, OPM and the interagency incident response team concluded that sensitive information, including the Social Security numbers of 21.5 million individuals, was stolen from the background investigation databases. This includes 19.7 million people who applied for a background investigation, and 1.8 million non-applicants, predominantly spouses or cohabitants of applicants, officials said. There is no information at this time to suggest any misuse or further dissemination of the information that was stolen from OPM's systems, they added.<sup>34</sup>

On July 11, 2015, Defence Secretary Ash Carter asked counties and communities across America to consider new ways to provide service to troops and veterans. Carter told the National Association of Counties conference in Charlotte, North Carolina, that as strategies change to keep America safe, personnel policies will change, too. Counties, cities and towns across America will be affected. He said, "Our men and women don't come from the Pentagon... they come from your communities. We recruit from your communities." President Barack Obama assured service members yesterday that they “are going to get paid” despite disagreements over the fiscal year 2016 defence budget. Speaking at the Pentagon following a meeting with his national security team, Obama said it is important to take a long view of the defence budget and understand that the American military must be ready to fight and win today as well as 25 years in the future. The president said he is not going to accept a budget “that shortchanges our long-term requirements for new technologies, for readiness.” The administration has informed Congress that the president’s senior advisors would recommend that the president veto current House and Senate versions of the National Defence Authorization Act. The president said Americans must remember that the U.S. economy powers the best military in history. The bottom line, the president said, is that Americans must think long-term and recognize that a strong economy is an integral part of national security.<sup>36</sup> Meanwhile, on July 9, Army officials announced force structure decisions and stationing plans for the reduction of the regular Army from 490,000 to 450,000 soldiers. The reduction of force structure will occur in fiscal years 2016 and 2017. The end-strength reduction of 40,000 will be completed by the end of fiscal year 2018, and will be accompanied by the reduction of 17,000 Army civilian employees, officials said, adding that the cuts will affect nearly every Army installation in the United States and overseas. As part of these reductions, the number of regular Army brigade combat teams, the basic deployable units of manoeuvre in the Army, will continue to decline from a wartime high of 45 to 30 by the end of fiscal year 2017. Budget constraints are forcing the Army’s reduction, said Lt. Gen. Joseph Anderson, the Army’s deputy chief of staff for operations and plans.<sup>37</sup>

On July 11, an EU statement called the deportation a violation of core principles of international humanitarian law. U.S. Vice-President Joe Biden would deliver a keynote speech on India-U.S. relations at an event hosted by a top American think-tank to mark the tenth anniversary of the historic civilian nuclear deal between the two countries. The event is being hosted jointly by Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and Carnegie Endowment for International Relations, a top U.S. think-tank. Mr. Biden's speech follows a full-day conference at Carnegie Endowment for International Relations on the 10th anniversary of the landmark U.S.-India civil nuclear agreement that will include remarks by Arun K Singh, India's Ambassador to the U.S., it said. Defence minister Manohar Parrikar formally handed over to the Indian Air Force (IAF) the indigenously designed, developed and produced Akash Air Defence missile system at Air Force Station Gwalior on July 10, 2015. Akash is the first made-in-India missile system and is a hallmark of sustained and focused jointmanship between DRDO, BEL, private sector and more importantly the IAF. Air Chief Marshal Arup Raha, who formally received the key of the Akash system from Parrikar said that a total of 27 missiles had been fired after inking of the contract, to ascertain the serviceability of the system in various conditions and a high success rate had been achieved. He also brought out that plans were afoot in the IAF for procurement of additional Akash systems. Akash is a potent supersonic mobile multi-directional, multi-target point/ area Air Defence system that can simultaneously engage multiple air targets using sophisticated multi-function phased array radars. It is also capable of handling the counter electronic warfare scenario. Indigenous development of Akash system has given impetus to the defence industrial base of the country and generated business of more than Rs. 20,000 crore. Akash is the outcome of successful partnership between DRDL, the nodal lab in DRDO, along with 13 other DRDO labs, 19 Public Sector Units (PSUs), 5 Ordnance Factories (OFs), 3 National Laboratories, 6 academic institutions and more than 265 private industries across the country.<sup>54</sup>

Reports say that dozens of Russian soldiers are facing trial for fleeing their unit, fearing deployment to Ukraine. The popular Gazeta.ru website said several dozen soldiers would be prosecuted after fleeing a training ground in southern Russia where they were under pressure to volunteer to fight in Ukraine. The troops had freely enlisted for the army and are not draftees, the newspaper report said. It is the latest report to allege Russian soldiers are being sent to eastern Ukraine despite Moscow's insistence that only "volunteers" are fighting alongside the pro-Russian separatists. The Russian defence ministry said that only four soldiers named in the report are under investigation for disciplinary offences denying dozens were involved.<sup>56</sup>

Meanwhile, according to reports, military aid provided by Saudi Arabia and the United States has boosted the firepower of the Lebanese Armed Forces (LAF) by about 30 to 40 percent in recent years. Over the past eight years Lebanon has received US military aid worth $1 billion, according to David Hale, the US ambassador to Lebanon. The firepower of the LAF has at least multiplied by 30 to 40 percent. According to an article authored in November for the Middle East Institute by Basem Shabb, a member of the Lebanese parliamentary Committee for National Defence and Interior, the LAF has quietly been developing a credible force over the past few years with US assistance. Lebanon has also recently received a military grant from Saudi Arabia worth $3 billion for French weapons. French support culminated in the delivery of Milan launcher systems last April. Another $1 billion Saudi grant delivered in December facilitated the purchase in June of six A-29 Super Tucano aircraft worth $462 million.<sup>57</sup>

- Ceasefire violations: Pak targets BoPs on IB and LoC; 3 militants killed in Keran encounter: Army.

Pakistani troops violated the ceasefire again on July 7 by firing on forward posts along the Line of Control (LoC) in Poonch district, leaving a jawan injured. This is the fifth such incident in the last 72 hours. On July 6, Pakistani troops had resorted to night-long firing and mortar shelling targeting six Border out Posts (BoPs) and some villages along Indo-Pak border in Jammu district. They used small arms and also fired 82 mm mortar shells targeting BoPs in the sector triggering panic among villagers located along the borderline. One BSF jawan was killed in Pakistani firing along LoC in Nougam sector in Kashmir valley on July 5.<sup>58</sup> Meanwhile, a Border Security Force (BSF) jawan was killed on July 9 when Pakistani troops opened sniper fire at Indian forward post along the Line of Control (LoC) in Baramulla of North Kashmir. The incident, coming ahead of the meeting between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his Pakistani counterpart Nawaz Sharif in Russia on July 10, took place at around 3.30 p.m. when the jawan, posted in Karam post in Uri area of Baramulla sector, collapsed after being hit in his right eye by a bullet from across the border, the officials said. The Pakistani firing was retaliated by the troops and some casualties were inflicted on the other side, the officials claimed.<sup>59</sup>

Army, on July 12, claimed to have killed three militants while foiling an infiltration bid in Keran Sector of frontier district of Kupwara in north Kashmir. A senior Army official said the militants were killed at Gale Gali on the Line of Control. "A group of five to seven militants were intercepted by 5 Rajput regiment at Gale Gali on July 12 morning and asked to stop. But they opened indiscriminate fire on Army and in retaliatory fire three unidentified militants were killed," he said. He said the militants were "cutting fencing" erected along the LoC "when soldiers detected their activity using night vision devices." The official said gun-battle in the area is on.<sup>60</sup>

- NSCN (K) cease-fire abrogation decided in advance, claim sources; Senior GNLA militant killed in encounter; NSCN (K) asks Airtel to withdraw operations from Nagaland; Indo-Myanmar Regional Border Committee meet discusses issues; NIA will ask Myanmar for custody of SS Khaplang.

Militant outfit NSCN (K) withdrew from the ceasefire agreement with the Government of India soon after signing a formal agreement with the Government of Myanmar. However, the decision to withdraw from the ceasefire agreement with the Government of India was taken some time back. These revelations have come out following the arrest of senior leader of the outfit Khumlo Abi Anal by the National Investigation Agency (NIA) in connection with the killing of 18 Army personnel in Manipur. Highly placed security sources told The Assam Tribune that Anal met Khaplang in Taga in Myanmar in December last year and the issue of withdrawal from the ceasefire agreement was discussed during that time. The leaders of the outfit felt that their importance was being reduced and the Government was giving more importance to NSCN (I-M). They felt that under the circumstances, the best option for them was to withdraw from the ceasefire agreement to show its strength to the Government of India. Security sources said that the arrest of Anal and another senior leader K Rochilli and their confessions before the security agencies revealed that the leaders of the NSCN (K) wanted a comprehensive solution to the Naga political issue, by incorporating the Naga-inhabited areas in India and Myanmar, but it was not possible for the Government of India to make any commitment on the issue. The Government made it clear that it cannot go for any solution cutting across the international boundary. Following the deliberations, Khaplang directed the office-bearers of his outfit not to attend the scheduled meeting of the ceasefire monitoring group to discuss the extension of the ceasefire agreement, which was due to expire in April this year. Sources said that Khaplang was also under pressure from other militant groups of the region, including ULFA (I), to break away from the ceasefire agreement so that their idea of forming a common platform becomes a reality.<sup>61</sup>

The Garo National Liberation Army (GNLA) suffered a body blow with the killing of senior cadre and in-charge of the outfit's media wing, Savio Ch Marak, in a police encounter in East Garo Hills on July 9. Marak was killed in a police operation in Ringregre village near Rongsak, about 30 kms from Williamnagar. The encounter took place at around 4.30 am when SWAT personnel raided a hideout where Marak was allegedly present along with five-six GNLA men.<sup>62</sup> structure and also enforce military action upon any company official found contravening this directive". The outfit alleged that Airtel was culpable of "practising manipulative lobby" to misguide a certain "major NGO" and also attempting to create chasm between NSCN (K), civil organisations and Naga public with a pure ulterior motive to maximise its profit". It said it took strong exception to the company daring to challenge its authority and warned that such conspiracy shall never be tolerated.<sup>63</sup>

The seventh Indo-Myanmar Regional Border Committee meet was organised from July 6- July 10 at Mantripukhri in Imphal East district of Manipur, an Assam Rifles press release said on July 11. A 19-member delegation from Myanmar with high ranking officials of Army and civil government departments attended the meeting at the Head Quarters, Inspector General of Assam Rifles (South). The meeting was held under the aegis of Spear Corps of Indian Army. The meet provided opportunities for representatives of security forces of both countries to discuss and resolve crucial issues relating to border management, bi-lateral cooperation and terrorism.<sup>64</sup>

The National Investigation Agency will ask the Myanmar authorities through Interpol to hand over NSCN (K) chief S.S. Khaplang for trial over the killing of 18 Indian Army soldiers in Manipur last month. Sources said the NIA had named Mr Khaplang as the prime conspirator behind the June 4 ambush, and was preparing the final charge sheet detailing the evidence against him, to be given to the Myanmar government. The issue may also be discussed when the Myanmar Army chief visits India soon, the sources said, adding that Myanmar recently told India it had given medical help to Mr Khaplang and shifted him to a hospital for treatment.<sup>65</sup>

The killings came to light when the villagers of Kundri village of Sukma informed the police that Badru was killed and his body was thrown in an open field by the Maoists on July 2 after which the villagers cremated his body near the village.<sup>66</sup>

The Chhattisgarh Police have launched a smartphone app on which people can secretly pass on crucial information about insurgents. 'Chhattisgarh Police' – the specially-designed app launched to mark Digital India week, can be downloaded from Google Play store and is also available on android platforms. The app will enable people in Maoist-hit areas to share with the police videos, audios and other information on Maoists without revealing their identity. Police believe the app will have an obvious edge over human intelligence gathered through a network of trusted ground-level informers. It would also bring on board those who are hesitant to visit a police station and volunteer information out of fear of compromising their identity. The inputs will be accessed only by top officials engaged in anti-Maoist operations and intelligence gathering, said ADG (anti-Maoist operation) RK Vij.<sup>67</sup>

People from as many as 30 villages have reportedly attended a meeting conducted by the banned CPI (Maoist) on the Andhra-Odisha border on July 6, the first day of the two-day bandh. The meeting was conducted by the Malkangiri-Visakha-Koraput division committee of the party and the committee's secretary Venu had renewed the party's warning to the five families that the party accused of involving in the killing of two Maoists near Korukonda in Visakha Agency during October last. Venu also demanded the people's representatives to pass resolutions in the Gram Sabhas and legislative bodies against the State Government's proposal to take up bauxite mining in the Agency area. He also wanted the people's representatives to resign their posts and participate in the Girijans' agitation against bauxite mining. The large number of people participating in the meeting was significant since there was not much of Maoist activity in Visakha Agency and one Maoist was killed and some others had a narrow escape from police in exchanges of fire that took place in recent past.<sup>68</sup>

Nine wanted Maoists surrendered before police in Gadchiroli district of Maharashtra on July 11. A senior Maoist cadre of the CPI (Maoist) military wing People's Liberation Guerrilla Army was also arrested by Gadchiroli police.<sup>69</sup>

IV. UNITED NATIONS REVIEWS

India and the UN

(June 22-June 28, 2015)

- India calls for rethink on Afghan troop withdrawal; China prevents discussion on Lakhvi's release in UNSC; India back in top 10 investment destinations.

At a Security Council debate on the UN Assistance Mission in Afghanistan, the Indian Permanent Representative (PR) to the UN, Asoke Mukherji, urged the international community to redeploy troops in Afghanistan in view of the rising violence levels in the country. The PR said that incidents of violence indicate that what is happening in Afghanistan is not only an ethnic clash, rather it is terrorism.<sup>70</sup>

China prevented the Security Council Sanctions Committee from taking up the issue of the release of the alleged 26/11 mastermind, Zaki-ur-Rehman Lakhvi. India had requested for a meeting of the Committee to discuss violation of the 1267 Committee's sanctions against Al-Qaeda linked terrorist entities and individuals. China said India's request was based on incomplete information.<sup>71</sup> The Indian government conveyed its serious concern regarding this matter to the Chinese government.<sup>72</sup>

The World Investment Report 2015 of the UNCTAD has stated that in the year 2014, India was among the top FDI destinations and was in the 9th place. While FDI flows fell by 16 per cent globally, they increased by 22 per cent in India, thus making it $ 34 billion. Much of the FDI has come in the automotive industry. This investment has helped create vibrant some industrial clusters in the country. The "Make in India" initiative is likely to attract more FDI into the manufacturing sector.<sup>73</sup>

Complying with UNSC Resolution 2199 (2015), India has passed an order that restrains oil trade and trade in refined oil products, modular refineries and related materials, besides items of cultural (including antiquities), scientific and religious importance with ISIL, Al Nusra Front and other Al Qaeda related entities.<sup>74</sup>

The Secretary General has appreciated India's effort to investigate and prosecute the peacekeepers who have been accused of sexual abuse and exploitation. Other countries like South Africa, Pakistan, also named in the report, are yet to do so.<sup>75</sup>

In an interview with the BBC, Environment Minister, Prakash Javadekar clarified that while India is likely to announce its INDCs soon and they are likely to be substantial, it will not give a date for the beginning of a downturn in its emissions. China in the meantime has stated in its INDC that its emissions would peak in 2030 and will go down from then.<sup>76</sup>

At the World Summit for Information Society (WSIS) +10 review in the General Assembly, Santhosh Jha, Director General, MEA, urged the need to bridge the digital divide between the developed and developing/least developed countries. He spoke of the need for affordability and multilingualism of ICTs for inclusiveness and development.<sup>77</sup> He also emphasized the need for striking a balance between national security and human rights while engaging in internet surveillance.<sup>78</sup>

At 29th session of the UNHRC in Geneva, India abstained from voting on two resolutions. The first was a 'prescriptive' resolution asking Myanmar to adopt measures to end the discrimination against Rohingyas. In this case, as explained by India's PR in Geneva, Ajit Kumar, India abstained as in its view, the government of Myanmar was in the process of restoring law and order in the

- India's MDG targets partially met, SDGs may be difficult to achieve; Afghan refugees in India get skill development training; Nigeria seeks India's support for UNSC seat.

A report on Millennium Development Goals released by the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia-Pacific (UN-ESCAP) had highlighted that while India had succeeded in achieving the poverty reduction goal set by the MDGs as also the primary education enrolment goals, it lags behind in gender parity in the education. Also, secondary education has not picked up sufficiently, with India still having the highest numbers of school-drop out at that level.<sup>82</sup> Bibek Debroy of the NITI Aayog, who was attending the report-release function, however, expressed concern regarding the over-ambitious Sustainable Development Goals- 17 goals and 169 targets- being formulated for adoption in September 2015. He said collecting relevant data and then implementing and monitoring them will be a very difficult task.<sup>83</sup>

UNHCR in partnership with the Anudip Foundation is helping with imparting skill development training to Afghan refugees in India. 79 refugees are being imparted IT and communications skills at two centres in New Delhi. After three months of training, they get placements in BPOs, IT
