Iran Carries Out Initial Tests of Bavar 373 Missile System at Range of 300km

Fars News, October 16, 2022

Commander of the Iranian Army Air Defense Force Brigadier General Alireza Sabahifard highlighted his country's great advancements in the air defense fields, and confirmed that Tehran has begun conducting initial tests of the domestically-built Bavar 373 missile system at a range of 300 kilometers. Addressing a military academy in the capital Tehran on Sunday, Sabahifard said Iran's Air Defense Force is equipped with indigenous radar systems that can monitor the movements of enemies even in their homes within a span of thousands of kilometers. Iran has upgraded Bavar 373 missile defense system, initially unveiled in August 2019 with a range of 200 kilometers, proportional to threats, the senior commander stated.

Drones Embody an Iran-Russia Alliance Built on Hostility to the U.S.

The New York Times, October 17, 2022

The Iranian-made drones that Russia sent on Monday to divebomb Ukraine's capital delivered the most emphatic proof yet that Tehran has become a rare, increasingly close ally to the Kremlin, offering both weapons and international support that Russia sorely lacks. There is no deep love between Russia, newly a pariah for attacking another country, and Iran, for decades one of the most strategically isolated nations in the world. But the two authoritarian governments, both chafing under Western sanctions, share a view of the United States as their great enemy and a threat to their grip on power.

IRGC Commander Warns S. Arabia Against Meddling in Iran's Affairs

Fars News, October 17, 2022

Commander of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps (IRGC) Major General Hossein Salami criticized Saudi Arabia for interfering in Iran's domestic affairs, and urged Riyadh to rein in its anti-Tehran media. The IRGC chief has issued a stern warning against Saudi Arabia over its media campaign that has been stoking tensions in the recent unrest in Iran. "We defend our vital interests under any circumstances. We emphasize that our neighbors should behave non-aggressively according to political logic as well as international and legal law," Maj. Gen. Salami noted on Monday. The senior commander warned Riyadh to stop interfering in Iran's internal affairs through a smear campaign launched by its media, stressing, "I warn the Al Saud regime to control your media or it will backfire on you."

22 countries seek to buy Iranian drones: general

The Tehran Times, October 18, 2022

Major General Yahya Rahim Safavi made the remarks at a gathering in Imam Hussein

University. “22 countries are requesting to buy Iranian drones,” said Rahim Safavi, the former IRGC chief. Stating that prior to the Islamic Revolution, 80% of the defense equipment were imported, the top general highlighted that over 80% of the defense equipment are now indigenously made. According to the major general, the victory of the Islamic Revolution and the 8-year imposed war on Iran were two key events that changed the contemporary world.

Iran's Military Employs Homegrown Missile Fath 360 During Wargames

Fars News, October 18, 2022

The Islamic Revolution Guards Corps (IRGC) Ground Force launched a military exercise in Iran's Northwestern regions in which it used the domestically-developed strategic surface-to-surface missile, Fath (Conquest) 360, with the range of 120 kilometers. The projectile uses tactical solid fuel and is a precision weapon. The missile has a range of 120 kilometers and is capable of destroying a range of targets including logistic systems of the enemy. This enables ground forces to enter the battlefield. Fath 360 is highly resistant to electronic warfare and is capable of destroying its targets without any disruption. Its battery fires its multiple missiles within a minute to avoid getting targeted by the enemy.

Iran backs proposal on nuclear weapons convention

Iran Republic News Agency, October 18, 2022

In a United Nations General Assembly meeting on Monday, Heydar-Ali Balouji, a diplomat in Iran's permanent mission in the UN, said that the repeated failures of revision in the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons (NPT) showed that there was no vision for complete elimination of nuclear arms. Nuclear disarmament has been on the international agenda since 1946 when the General Assembly adopted its first resolution calling for the elimination of nuclear weapons and since the NPT entered into force in 1970, Balouji said. However, he said, the nuclear-weapon states undertook a legal obligation to negotiate to cease the nuclear arms race and disarm. “But the nuclear arsenals have exceeded 13,000 weapons, with the number and quality of these devastating weapons set to increase in the coming years.”

Iran: Protests, EU Sanctions, a Nuclear Deal in Tatters

Albawaba, October 18, 2022

Iran condemned fresh sanctions imposed by the European Union on Iranian officials and institutions, vowing retaliation. Foreign Ministry spokesman Nasser Kanaani termed the EU sanctions as a “violation of international law” and a “clear example of interference” in Iran's internal affairs. “It is deeply regrettable that certain political motivations as well as relying on baseless, distorted information and fabricated claims by the enemies of the Iranian nation and the well-known media affiliated with them are the basis of such a wrong and unconstructive decision,” he said.

Iranian combat drones in the war against Ukraine

Kyiv Post, October 19, 2022

The Russian military is increasingly deploying “kamikaze” drones in its attacks on Kyiv and other Ukrainian cities. These unmanned aircraft equipped with missiles are purportedly being supplied by Iran, although Tehran denies this. Europe’s press discusses how their use could affect the course of the war.

IRGC Conducts Aerial Practice During Wargames

Fars News, October 19, 2022

The Islamic Revolution Guards Corps (IRGC) continued its large-scale drills in Northwestern Iran to exercise tactical operations, including heliborne and parachuting. The IRGC Ground Force’s troops carried out heliborne and parachute jump operations during the military exercise in Northwestern Iran on Wednesday. On the third day of the ‘Mighty Iran’ wargames, underway in ‘Aras’ region along the Northwestern boundaries in the provinces of Ardabil and East Azarbaijan, the IRGC special forces conducted airborne operations with Mil Mi-17 helicopters in predetermined areas. The participants in the drills also seized the routes and heights controlled by the hypothetical enemy.

Leader hails Iran’s astonishing achievements in military, nuclear, scientific fields

Fars News, October 19, 2022

Supreme Leader of the Islamic Revolution Ayatollah Seyed Ali Khamenei lauded his country for its achievements in military, nuclear and scientific arenas, and stressed that the elites are one of the most important assets of Iran for standing up against arrogant powers. The Supreme Leader made the remarks in a meeting with academic elites and top university students on Wednesday. "Talented individuals are among the most important assets of the country," Ayatollah Khamenei said. "When we recognize that the talented are a great wealth, we will endeavor to nurture talented individuals, we will understand that losing them is a loss, and we will prevent this loss as much as possible," he added.

Son of late Iran shah voices solidarity with Ukraine over drones

Arab News, October 20, 2022

The son of Iran’s late shah on Thursday voiced solidarity with Ukrainians who have suffered from Russian-fired drones allegedly sold by Tehran and urged new, tough action against the clerical regime. “Our hearts go out to the Ukrainian people who are defending their sovereignty,” Reza Pahlavi told reporters after delivering an address from his home in exile in Washington on protests that have swept Iran. “We accuse the Islamic regime of not only having completely destroyed our freedom,” he said, but “now it is also cooperating with those who are putting at risk another nation’s sovereignty.”

Cyber group hacks Iran’s nuclear company email system, demands release of detainees

Arab News, October 22, 2022

An Iranian cyber group has reportedly hacked the internal email system of Iran’s Nuclear Power Production and Development Company on Friday, demanding the release of detained activists. Hackers from the group called “Black Reward” have threatened to leak the company’s internal data, according to the group’s Twitter account, cited by Al Arabiya news website. The group gave the Iranian regime 24 hours to release detained political prisoners and protesters, the report cited the statement issued by the hackers.

Who is hacking Iran's 'nuclear' server?

Albawaba, October 24, 2022

Iran's nuclear energy agency said Sunday an email server of one of its subsidiaries was hacked from a foreign country amid ongoing protests over the death of a young woman in police custody. In a statement, the Atomic Energy Organization of Iran (AEOI) confirmed the intrusion into an email server of the Bushehr Nuclear Power Plant from "a certain foreign country", with information about activities there being leaked online. The agency, however, played down the hacking incident, saying the move was designed to "attract public attention" and "create media space".

N. Chief: Iran on track toward indigenizing reactors

Fars News, October 25, 2022

Head of the Atomic Energy Organization of Iran (AEOI) Mohammad Eslami said that Tehran has begun the process of indigenizing, designing and constructing nuclear reactors. Visiting the Nuclear Technology Department of Iran's prestigious Shiraz University on Monday, Eslami stated Iran is determined to "wipe off the nuclear hype" created by the West, adding the adversaries intend to hinder Iran's progress in the nuclear field by raising accusations. "By expanding our activities on the surface and depth, we intend to become the hub of constructing nuclear power plants in the world," the AEOI chief continued. Eslami also pointed out that Iran is still in contact with the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and talks are underway to set out an outline to resume negotiations over the nuclear standoff between Tehran and major powers in the world.

Iran thwarted 120 heavy cyberattacks in 20 days: official

The Tehran Times, October 25, 2022

The official, Brigadier General Gholam Reza Jalali, who is the head of the Civil Defense Organization of Iran, pointed to the increase in the number of cyberattacks against Iran's infrastructures over the last few weeks in a press conference held on Tuesday. "120 heavy DDoS cyberattacks on the infrastructures have been foiled during the past 20 days," he said, according to Tasnim. DDoS, or distributed denial of service, is a type of cyberattack that tries to make a website or network resource unavailable by flooding it with malicious traffic so that it is unable to operate.

Iranian president calls on us not to waste time in N. Talks

Fars News, October 25, 2022

Iranian President Seyed Ebrahim Rayeesi said on Tuesday the ball is in the US court regarding the negotiations aimed at reviving the 2015 nuclear deal, and urged Washington not to waste time and make a political decision. In a meeting held in Tehran with senior directors of media and news agencies which are members of the Organization of Asia-Pacific News Agencies (OANA), President Rayeesi stated that the United States should decide on the negotiations to remove sanctions on Iran, but it delays and wastes time. "There is no deviation in Iran's nuclear activities as the issue has already been confirmed 15 times by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA)," he noted.

Iranian N. Chief reveals us message on talks

Fars News, October 26, 2022

Head of the Atomic Energy Organization of Iran (AEOI) Mohammad Eslami declared that the United States has sent a message in recent days for negotiations over the restoration of the 2015 nuclear deal. Eslami said on Tuesday that the US had recently delivered a message announcing its readiness to continue talks over the revival of the landmark agreement. The official added that the US conveyed its message three or four days ago, contrary to its position last month that talks with Iran were no longer on its agenda. The AEOI head also spoke about Iran's nuclear activities, stating that the country's nuclear program has been under extensive inspections by the UN atomic watchdog over the past decades.

At least 13 martyred, over 20 wounded in terror attack in Iran's Shiraz

Fars News, October 26, 2022

At least 13 people were martyred and more than 20 others injured in a terrorist attack on a holy shrine in the Southern Iranian city of Shiraz on Wednesday. The assault took place at the Shah Cheragh Shrine on Wednesday evening and was carried out by a heavily-armed assailant. Initial reports said a man armed with Kalashnikov rifle entered the popular Shia shrine at 5:45 pm local time and opened fire at the pilgrims inside the site. One witness told reporters that loud screams were heard in the women's section of the shrine at the time of adhan (the call for prayer) and suddenly an armed man was spotted with a Kalashnikov firing indiscriminately in the compound of the shrine.

Iran blacklists EU officials, entities for 'inciting terrorism'

Al-Jazeera, October 26, 2022

The Iranian government has blacklisted a number of European Union officials and organisations, mainly for their stance on the country's ongoing protests that Iran says amounts to "inciting terrorism". While the bulk of the sanctions are related to recent developments concerning the weeks-long protests that erupted last month after the death of a young woman in custody, others deal with Tehran's repeated grievances with the bloc's officials and member states over issues that have led to longstanding political disputes.

Iranian destroyers to be armed with Abu Mahdi cruise missiles

The Tehran Times, October 26, 2022

The missile bears the name of the deputy commander of Iraq's Popular Mobilization Units (PMU), who was assassinated in a U.S. drone attack near Baghdad International Airport in January 2020 together with senior Iranian counterterrorism commander Lieutenant General Qassem Soleimani. The missile is being installed aboard Iranian military vessels, according to Irani. He said the opponents are aware of the features and have seen the capabilities of the Abu Mahdi naval cruise missile in action. He revealed that once used in electronic warfare systems, the missile can effectively carry out its missions. The admiral said the missile has gone through multiple testing.

Top military official: Rioters complicit in Shiraz terror attack

Iran Republic News Agency, October 27, 2022

The chief of the General Staff of the Iranian Armed Forces said that rioters involved in the latest unrest in the country are complicit in the Wednesday terrorist attack in Shiraz. Major General Mohammad Baqeri made the comment a day after the Shah Cheragh holy shrine was hit by a shooting attack which left 15 people dead and 27 others wounded. Two children were among the dead in the attack that was claimed by the Daesh terrorist group. The military official said that the rioters should know that protecting calm, as well as the lives and property of the Iranian people is a red line for the country's armed forces.

Military chief vows retribution against committers of Shiraz terrorist act

The Tehran Times, October 28, 2022

The Daesh has claimed responsibility for the terrorist attack on Shah Cheragh's shrine late on Wednesday. The attack took place shortly before evening prayers, when an assailant opened indiscriminate fire on pilgrims within the shrine before being injured and apprehended by security forces. Major General Mohammad Bagheri, the Iranian armed forces chief of staff, said in a statement that security and intelligence forces will swiftly punish the "internal and foreign designers and perpetrators" of the heinous crime for their despicable deeds. He continued by saying that the individuals responsible for the most recent wave of disturbance in the country as well as others who had been duped in the matter were "undoubtedly accomplices in this great crime."

Iranian army says determined to revenge Shiraz terrorist attack

Fars News, October 29, 2022

The Iranian Army underlined its resolve to avenge the blood of the martyrs of a terrorist attack at a Shia shrine in the city of Shiraz, reiterating that it stands ready to hit the enemies with "an iron fist" in any location. Pointing to the recent protests and deadly riots in Iran, the Iranian Army said that the enemies plotted the recent wave of riots with the goal of creating insecurity and unrest in Iran, and that the terror attack on Shah Cheragh Shrine was part of the same conspiracy. "Undoubtedly, the futile attempts of the enemies will not only fail to deal any blow to the Iranian nation's will, but will instead consolidate their unity and solidarity and strengthen their determination to pursue the ideals of late Imam Khomeini and the Islamic Revolution," it added.

Türkiye slams allegations of chemical weapons use in northern Iraq

Arab News, October 20, 2022

Turkey’s defense ministry and top government officials on Thursday firmly rejected allegations that the Turkish Armed Forces had used chemical weapons in their operations against Kurdish militants. Media close to the Kurdistan Workers Party (PKK) militant group published videos this week which it said showed chemical weapons being used by the army against the PKK in northern Iraq. Separately, an international medical groups’ federation published a report this month seeking independent investigation of possible violations of the 1997 Chemical Weapons Convention.

Iraq’s parliament approves new government headed by Mohammed Shia Al Sudani

The National News, October 26, 2022

Iraq’s parliament approved a new government headed by Mohammed Shia Al Sudani as prime minister on Thursday, ending more than a year of political deadlock during which the country teetered on the verge of collapse. The stalemate turned bloody when clashes broke out earlier this year between Shiite militias in Baghdad's Green Zone, the heart of government that contains the parliament buildings and foreign embassies. Dozens of people were killed or wounded. Mr Al Sudani chose deputy commander of Joint Operations Lt Gen Abdul Amir Al Shammari, a Shiite, as the interior minister and former military officer and MP Thabit Al Baldawi as defence minister.

In Israel, Albanian PM to meet cyber chief after Iran hack

Arab News, October 23, 2022

Albanian Prime Minister Edi Rama arrived in Israel on Sunday for an official visit that will include a meeting with Israeli cyber defense officials, the Israeli Foreign Ministry said. Rama's three-day visit came a month after Albania severed diplomatic ties with Iran over a July cyberattack that targeted Albanian governmental websites and services. After Albania cut ties, a second cyberattack from the same Iranian source hit an information system that records Albanian border entries and exits, causing delays for travelers.

Hochstein to visit Beirut, says working on reviving Egypt-Jordan energy deal

Naharnet, October 19, 2022

U.S. energy mediator Amos Hochstein will visit Beirut next week to submit a U.S.-signed demarcation proposal, Deputy Speaker Elias Bou Saab said. Last week, Lebanon and Israel said they agreed on the terms of the U.S.-mediated deal over a maritime border dispute involving offshore gas fields. Bou Saab said, in a statement late Tuesday, that Hochstein will submit the proposal signed by the U.S. government. As soon as the U.S. sends a notice confirming it has received from Lebanon and Israel their separate approvals, the demarcation deal will go into force. Lebanon and Israel will then deposit maritime border coordinates with the United Nations -- in a move that will override 2011 submissions by both countries.

Jordan condemns ongoing Israeli military raids into Palestinian towns

English Wafa, October 25, 2022

Jordan's Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Expatriates today condemned the ongoing Israeli military incursions and aggression against Palestinian towns, the latest of which were dawn attacks against the cities of Nablus and Ramallah, said the official Jordanian Petra news agency. It warned that the military escalation would lead to a new spiral of violence for which "everyone will pay a price." The violence will breed more violence, it said, warning that the Israeli raids into Palestinian cities and measures to perpetuate the occupation amid the persistent stalemate in the peace process, would push for a dangerous escalation, for which Israel will be responsible, threaten regional peace and stability and kill the last hope of achieving just peace, said the news agency.

Türkiye test-fires domestic ballistic missile over Black Sea

Daily Sabah, October 19, 2022

Türkiye test-fired a locally made, short-range ballistic missile over the Black Sea, media reports said Tuesday. The projectile, named Tayfun, was developed by leading Turkish missile developer Roketsan and fired from a mobile platform at an airport in the Black Sea coastal city of Rize at 6:50 a.m. (3:30 a.m. GMT), private news agency Demirören reported. The missile flew 561 kilometers (350 miles) before falling off the coast of the port of Sinop. Though not yet confirmed by defense industry sources, the test shows the Tayfun has double the range of the country's first domestic missile system, the Bora.

Erdogan may speak with Biden as F-16 talks 'go on positively'

Daily Sabah, October 22, 2022

Negotiations with the United States on sales of F-16 fighter jets are “going on positively,” President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan said on Thursday, adding that he may later discuss this issue over the phone with U.S. President Joe Biden. The remarks come just two days after Erdoğan said that he had received “positive” feedback from two U.S. senators he met with in New York on their potential support for the sale of F-16s to Türkiye. Türkiye has been seeking to modernize its air fleet and sought to buy 40 F-16 jets and nearly 80 modernization kits from the U.S. Biden has said he supports the sale and that he would work to convince lawmakers to deliver the F-16 jets for Türkiye’s air force.

Meet Türkiye's new kamikaze drone: Deli

Daily Sabah, October 25, 2022

The Turkish defense industry has added a new product to the kamikaze unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs) developed domestically. The new drone, named Deli, was developed by Titra Teknoloji and was exhibited for the first time at the SAHA Expo defense and aviation fair starting Tuesday in Istanbul. Titra Teknoloji general manager Davut Yılmaz told Anadolu Agency (AA) that the Deli Project was started about two years ago. He said they set out to develop a fixed-wing kamikaze UAV that can be launched manually or from a catapult, which is as cost-effective as possible, adding the testing process near end and that they expect the product to reach a level where it can be added to the inventory by the end of this year.

Beyond drones: Check out Turkish defense firms' hot new gear

Daily Sabah, October 27, 2022

Turkish defense industry products have been making global headlines recently, and there are basic reasons behind this. One is that the country's defense sector, which has entered a period of domestic production, has thrilled the sector with this move and is open to growing more, and the other is that it has developed battle-proven products and put them on the market – the Bayraktars. Yet, what is even more appealing when it comes to the country's defense sector, the world-famous unmanned combat aerial vehicles (UCAVs) that now hunt down Russian military gear from Ukrainian airspace – are just a part of a wide range of the product spectrum that Turkish companies can offer.

Turkish delegation flies to US for talks on sale of F-16 fighters

Daily Sabah, October 27, 2022

A delegation of members of Türkiye's ruling party departed for Washington on Tuesday to hold talks on the potential sale of the F-16 fighter jets, as the prolonged process continues to top the agenda in bilateral contacts. Officials have been expressing optimism that the deal could be finalized despite a bill approved by American lawmakers that created a new hurdle for any purchase by Türkiye. Yet, Ankara has vowed it may consider alternatives, including Russia, if the United States fails to follow through on its promise to deliver F-16s to Turkish air forces.

Turkish armed unmanned vessel shows naval capacities in NATO drill

Daily Sabah, October 27, 2022

A Turkish armed unmanned surface vehicle (AUSV) demonstrated its abilities at a recent NATO exercise in southwestern Portugal, becoming Türkiye's first such platform to join the alliance's military drill. Developed by Turkish defense pioneer Aselsan and the Sefine Shipyard in northwestern Yalova province under the coordination of the Presidency of Defense Industries (SSB), MARLIN took part in the drill with around 100 other unmanned aviation and marine vehicles. Around 20 ships were also part of the six-day exercise that began on Sunday and was named Dynamic Messenger 2022.

Turkish drone powerhouse Baykar to complete Ukraine plant in 2 years

Daily Sabah, October 28, 2022

The Turkish defense company behind the drones, which earned fame for their critical role in several conflicts, is planning to complete the construction of its manufacturing plant in Ukraine in two years, according to its chief executive. Baykar became highly renowned for the success of its Bayraktar TB2 armed drones in conflicts in Syria, Libya, Karabakh and lastly in Ukraine, where the platforms proved to be instrumental in the country's defense against armor and anti-aircraft systems in the first few weeks of the Russian invasion. The Bayraktar TB2 unmanned combat aerial vehicle (UCAV) gained so much prominence with the public that Ukrainians composed a song about it and some allies launched unprecedented crowdfunding campaigns to buy more.

Turkish drones to be put into service in Albania soon: PM Rama

Daily Sabah, October 29, 2022

Albanian Prime Minister Edi Rama said Turkish-made Bayraktar drones agreed to be purchased by his country will be put into service very soon. "These satellites will be followed very soon by (Bayraktar) drones. In line with new developments, we decided to complete them and buy armed drones," Edi Rama said at the signing of a satellite service contract between the Albanian National Civil Defense Agency and the firm Satellogic USA to monitor the country with advanced defense and security technology. "Of course, armed drones are for extreme situations against terrorism or a potential enemy. However, these drones have a number of complementary functions in harmony with satellites," he added. According to Rama, the agreement is worth $6 million.

Turkish drone maker Baykar 'to counter kamikaze threat in Ukraine'

Daily Sabah, October 30, 2022

Turkish combat drone maker Baykar hopes "soon" to be able to counter "kamikaze" drones in Ukraine, such as the Russian-operated Iranian drones recently threatening critical infrastructure, the company's CEO told Deutsche Presse-Agentur (dpa). "Soon our Bayraktar TB2 and Akıncı will have air-to-air missiles; not only to engage drones but other enemy aircraft... we are conducting our tests," Haluk Bayraktar said during a defense fair in Istanbul. During the fair, SAHA Expo, a contract was signed between Turkish rocket and missile-making giant Roketsan and Baykar for the integration of the Sungur air defense missile to combat drones.

UAE relied on expertise of retired U.S. troops to beef up its military

The Washington Post, October 18, 2022

The hottest overseas job market for retired U.S. service members is a tiny Persian Gulf nation that outsources much of its military to foreign advisers and mercenaries. Over the past seven years, 280 military retirees have sought federal authorization to work for the United Arab Emirates — far more than for any other country, according to documents obtained by The Washington Post under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).

Yemen slams Zionist regime's "state terrorism" against Palestinians

Iran Republic News Agency, October 24, 2022

Yemen's Foreign Minister Hisham Sharaf Abdullah on Monday condemned the Zionist regime's "state terrorism" against the defenseless people of Palestine, especially in occupied Al-Quds. The regime has intensified its crackdown against Palestinians in the occupied territories, conducting raids on different parts of the West Bank and Al-Quds almost on a daily basis and making mass arrests. The top Yemeni diplomat warned against consequences of the escalating tensions by the Zionist regime which he called a direct threat to international peace and security, Yemen's Almasirah TV reported.

Guantánamo judge weighing hearsay statements in U.S.S. Cole bombing case

The New York Times, October 27, 2022

At a hearing in the U.S.S. Cole bombing case this week, a retired F.B.I. agent described what three Yemeni eyewitnesses had told investigators 20 years ago after the suicide attack on the Navy warship. According to the agent, the Yemenis pointed to a photo of Abd al-Rahim al-Nashiri, a Guantánamo prisoner now awaiting a death-penalty trial, as the person who had rented a safehouse used by plotters of the attack.

Satellite images show Israeli missile system deployed in UAE amid fears of Yemen's retaliatory attacks

Qods Interantinal News Agency, October 30, 2022

The images, released by Tactical Report, show that the missile batteries and an Elta EL/M-2084 radar have been stationed near al-Dhafra air base, south of the capital Abu Dhabi. Earlier this year, Israel agreed to sell its advanced missile system to the UAE, in the first such known deal between them since they normalized their ties. Israel and the UAE have signed a raft of deals in various areas, including aviation, financial services and tourism, since they reached a controversial US-brokered normalization agreement in August 2020. Back in June 2021, Israeli foreign minister Yair Lapid inaugurated the Israeli embassy in Abu Dhabi and the Israeli consulate in Dubai during a two-day visit.
